The April American Magazine.

In the April American Magazine Cleveland Moffett tells the story of a wonderful new invention which, it is believed, will prevent collisions at sea and render the deadly submarine practically useless so far as injuring an enemy's ships is concerned.

In the same issue Ring W. Lardner, the famous base ball writer, author of "The Letters of a Busher," picks an all-American base ball team. He takes his men from the two major leagues and describes them humorously, yet pointedly. Ida M. Tarbell, continuing her new business series, "The Golden Rule in Business," contributes an article on "The Hours of Labor." By the use of interesting stories taken from actual business, she makes out a convincing case for a reasonably short day, showing how excessive hours of labor produce no advantage for employers or employees.

Conspicuous among the short stories in this issue is a political story entitled, "The Lame Duck," written by Brand Whitlock, former mayor of Toledo, and present minister to Belgium. Other fiction of special interest and power is contributed by David Grayson, Ellis Parker Butler, Louis Graves and William MacLeod Raine.

As usual, this magazine includes excellent specimens of humorous writing. This month George Fitch, the famous Illinois funny man, writes another Homeburg sketch of life in a small town. The title of his piece is "Homeburg's Leisure Class." James Montgomery Flagg, the celebrated New York wit and artist, does an amusing piece in words and pictures, satirizing visiting and visitors. The two departments—Interesting People and The Theater—complete an unusually original and entertaining number.

To Teach Agriculture at M. U. Summer Session.

The largest number of courses in agriculture ever given before in the summer session at the University of Missouri at Columbia, June 10 to August 6, will be offered this year, according to J. D. Elliff, director of the work.

"In addition to the regular work offered," said Mr. Elliff, we shall offer advanced work in animal husbandry, and courses in dairy husbandry, entomology, farm crops, horticulture, soils and poultry husbandry. All departments of the College of Agriculture will be represented. In the courses in agronomy it is planned to give students a practical knowledge of the handling of Missouri soils, their kinds and distribution and the principles underlying their permanent maintenance and productivity."

"The variety of work we shall offer and the ability of the teachers employed will not be equaled by any summer session given in America," said Mr. Elliff. The announcement of courses given in the summer session has just been published.

THE BEST LOAN

is the one that

- (1) Gives the farmer plenty of time to make improvements, buy more land, improve his stock, seed land down to grass and get ready to make money on the farm before the loan comes due.
- (2) Allows the farmer to pay small amounts on his loan from time to time without waiting for the interest pay day, and thereby gradually get out of debt.

We make such loans.

On request complete information will be furnished.

An "Old Glory" Sale for Autos.

New York, March 22.—The automobile scored another point over the horse in the contest for popular favor today, when the first auction sale of motor cars and accessories on an annual basis was opened in Madison Square Garden. For more than a decade the annual national automobile show has been a rival attraction of the national horse show, but heretofore no public sale of motor cars has been attempted along the lines of the "Old Glory" horse sales which have been an annual fixture in the big garden.

The auction sale of automobiles is conducted by the Motor Sales Corporation and will continue for three days. Only individual owners of motor cars have been solicited to present their vehicles for sale. All cars have been examined by a corps of expert engineers, and a demonstration will be given before each car is put on the block.

25 Years of Work for Aliens.

New York, March 20.—The Educational Alliance, one of the most unique charitable organizations in the metropolis, will reach its twenty-fifth anniversary tomorrow and in celebration of the silver jubilee there will be a public meeting with addresses by Mayor Mitchel and other persons of prominence.

The primary object of the Alliance is the education of immigrants to render them desirable citizens. Some idea of its activities may be gained from the fact that 3,000,000 persons go through the building every year, each one using several of its departments. The regular membership is nearly 3,000 and the educational work includes instruction in domestic arts, sciences, English, civics, physical training, religion and many other branches calculated to improve the condition of the foreign immigrant.

Orange Day in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—Pursuant to a proclamation issued by Governor Johnson today was observed as Orange Day in California, a day for paying tribute to one of the most important sources of the wealth and welfare of the people of the State. Throughout the orange-growing region of southern California the day will be celebrated with parades and other outdoor festivities.

Widener Memorial Completed.

Cambridge, Mass., March 23.—Announcement was made today of the practical completion of the Harry Elkins Widener Memorial Library at Harvard University. The library, which has been erected at a cost of $2,000,000, was provided for in the will of Mr. Widener, who was among the victims of the Titanic disaster. The building contains sixty miles of shelves, capable of holding 2,500,000 volumes. The interior decorations represent the work of many noted artists. It is planned to have the formal dedication of the library take place during commencement week next June.

Burton Expected to Be a Candidate.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who has just retired from the senate after twenty-two years of service in Congress, will sail from New York tomorrow for a ten-month trip through South America. The trip is intended to include visits to Peru, Bolivia and Chile, on the west coast of South America, and Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay, on the east coast. The stated object of Mr. Burton's trip is to become familiar with the South American countries, and, if possible, to promote friendly relations between them and the United States.

Public interest in Mr. Burton's trip has been increased by the expressed opinions of his Washington friends that he will return to the United States a full-fledged candidate for the Republican nomination for President next year. Since Congress adjourned two weeks ago the former Senator has spent the most of his time in Cleveland and it is known that he has been in conference with a number of the Republican leaders in the middle West.

The situation with regards to Mr. Burton and the Republican presidential nomination has been summed up by a Washington newspaper as follows:

"Mr. Burton is the proprietor of the most impressive boom for the Republican nomination that is now at large. Its promotion in real seriousness began soon after Congress came back in December. The impression has been gaining ground for a long time that Ohio is a really doubtful State, and going to be doubtful in 1915. The huge Republican victory in New York last autumn has been construed as making New York a pretty likely Republican State for 1916 and this injured the chance of that State's candidate, who is expected to be Gov. Whitman."

"Mr. Whitman doesn't deserve to be injured by the fact that he got an immense plurality, but that is what the politicians say happened. The State doesn't look so doubtful as some others and Ohio is being pushed forward as the real source of the political river of doubt."

"The Burton boom suffered an eclipse for a spell, when Ambassador Herrick was coming home amid plaudits and acclaim; for Herrick in another Ohio man, and he has a good many admirers who think he would be just the right person to lead the party. Whatever the mass of people in Ohio may think about it, and they will finally have to decide the question, it is pretty plain that among party leaders in Washington, Burton is decidedly stronger now than any other man."

"Mr. Burton, it is fair to say, does not look so progressive to Progressives as he does to conservatives. Progressive and liberal men in the party have examined his record of late, and they smile broadly at the claim that he is liberal enough to satisfy the big group of radical States west of Ohio."

"But east of Ohio the motion has been diligently cultivated that Burton will be just progressive enough to please the West reasonably, while being perfectly safe from the Eastern point of view. It is not an easy role for a statesman to play, especially with fifteen months of a preliminary campaign ahead."

Trial of Alleged "Wire-tapper."

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—Charged with having fleeced victims in Iowa, Wisconsin and other States out of thousands of dollars by means of the old "wire-tapping" swindle, Dan La Bar, a well known figure in Minneapolis, was arraigned in court here today for trial. La Bar claims it is a case of mistaken identity, despite the fact that he has been positively identified by Edward W. Coyle of Mason City, Iowa, as the man who got his $5,000 in a scheme to beat the bookmakers. Other alleged victims of the "wire-tappers" were J. E. Green of Algona, Iowa; D. A. Teeter of La Porte, Iowa, and John Koehn of Dorchester, Wis.

To Amend Cotton Rules.

New York, March 22.—Two important amendments which it is proposed to make to the by-laws of the New York Cotton Exchange are to be voted upon by the members of the exchange tomorrow. The amendments provide that negotiable warehouse receipts shall be deemed a liquidation of a contract if they are accompanied by a certificate of grade either by the inspection bureau of the Cotton Exchange or the Secretary of Agriculture. But if the receipts are accompanied only by deliverer's written notice of the grade the receiver shall pay only 80 per cent of the amount of the invoice and deposit the balance in trust pending final settlement.
